Did UMW Pull Death Trigger On Yablonski?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five days before he was beaten at a rally, word was sent down from United Mine Workers headquarters "to discipline Jock Yablonski," a Senate group investigating the union has been told.

Joseph A. Yablonski Jr. told a Senate labor subcommittee Thursday the beating at a union rally in Springfield, Ill., was one of the first indications of the "reign of terror" that enveloped his late father's campaign for the union presidency and still haunts his family and supporters.

"I now go to sleep at night with a loaded pistol under my pillow," he said.

Yablonski, who unsuccessfully challenged incumbent UMW President A. W. "Tony" Boyle in the union's Dec. 9 election, was found shot to death with his wife and daughter at their Clarksville, Pa., home Jan. 5. Three men, Paul Eugene Gilly, Aubran Wayne Martin and Claude Edward Vealey, have been charged in a Pennsylvania court with murder in the Yablonski deaths. Gilly's wife, Annette Lucy Gilly, was indicted by a federal grand jury in Cleveland Thursday and charged with interfering with the rights of a union member by force or violence, obstruction of justice and conspiring with others to interfere with a union member's rights by force or violence.

The slain unionist's son said his father accused Boyle of "playing Russian roulette with UMW pension funds" shortly after Boyle became a trustee of the union's welfare and retirement fund June 13.

Within days, Yablonski said, "word went down from Boyle to discipline Jock Yablonski, and don't worry how rough you are about it."

"Five days later, in Springfield, Ill., my father was beat up," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma is resigning as Democratic National chairman, it was learned today.

Sources close to him said Harris would step down effective when a successor is chosen.

Harris called a news conference later today to announce his plans.

Harris has headed the party for just over a year.

Aid To Prisoners Top Burger Aim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger today urged the states to adopt simple, workable procedures to give every prisoner with a grievance the opportunity for a prompt and fair hearing.

Burger, in a speech prepared for the National Association of Attorneys General, proposed also that staffs of lawyers be available to all prisoners to advise them and help prepare appeals.

The chief justice said such reforms would help "restore state supreme courts to their rightful place in the sun as the primary arbiters of the state cases."

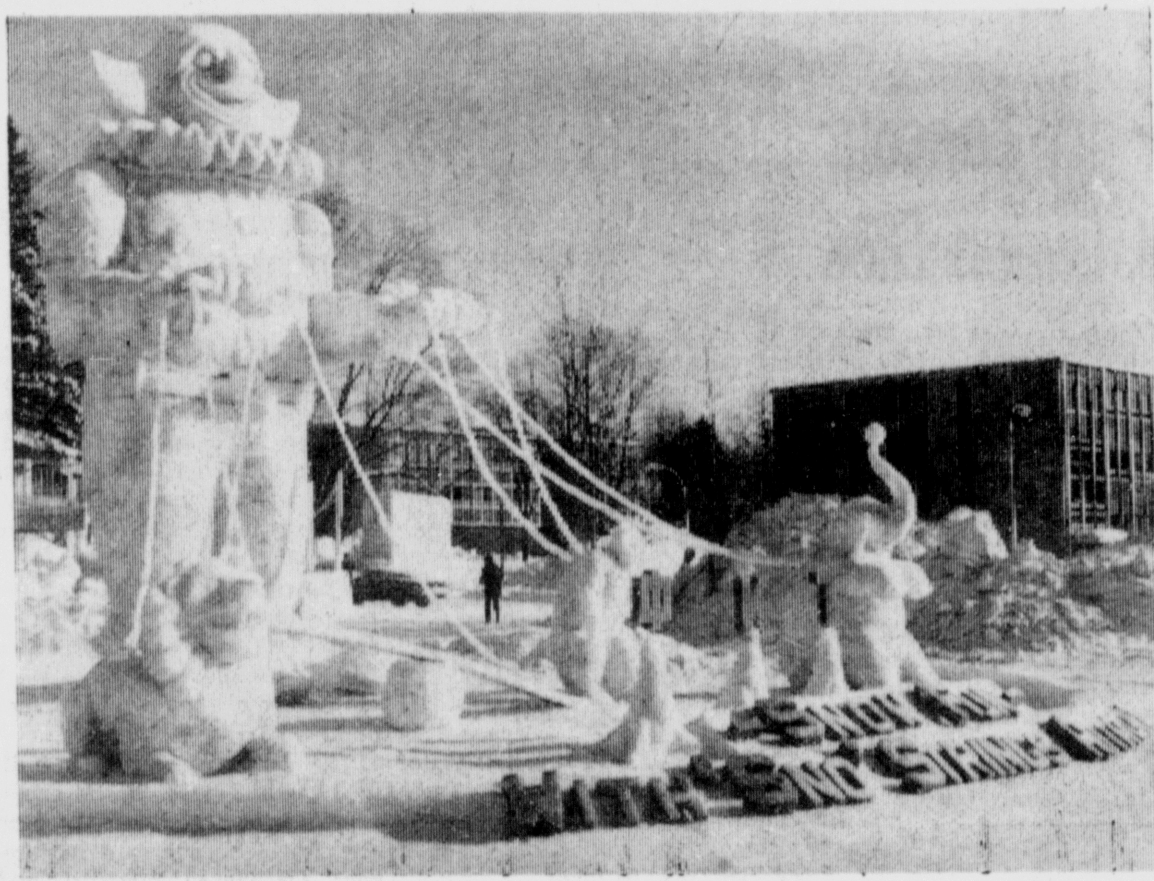

Burger said prisoners' habeas corpus petitions to federal courts usually are without merit, constitute "an undue burden" on federal courts and have been "sand, if not gravel, in federal-state relationships."

Therefore, to "reduce the flood of federal-state cases to a small stream," he recommended adoption of state procedures "by which every person in confinement who has, or who thinks he has, a grievance or a complaint can be heard promptly, fairly and fully."

The chief justice urged the attorneys general to use their power and prestige to achieve adoption of such procedures, ei-

Parochialism Issue Heading For Court; Bill Rewrite Seen

LANSING (AP) — Apparently content to shuttle the issue of parochialism off to the State Supreme Court, the Michigan House is turning back to rewriting the nearly $1-billion price tag on next year's school aid bill.

In desultory debate Thursday afternoon, the lower chamber reviewed a series of amendments dealing with teacher salaries and the formula used to distribute the basic, $661.4 million general school aid fund. The action, while minimal now, points the way for serious, final maneuvering and voting on the bill next week.

Separate Bill Date

Leaders of the successful move to tie release of the $22 - million parochialism section to a court review, said they will propose later that chapter two of the bill

—the parochialism section—be given a separate effective date of Sept. 1 to allow more time for seeking the court study of the issue.

Rep. John Payant, R-Kingsford, said the July 1st effective date of the entire bill — first payments to schools are due only a month later — doesn't allow enough time.

The advisory opinion would be asked under a special, constitutional authority granted the governor and Legislature on "solemn occasions."

Payant said the understood only one other State Supreme Court opinion has been asked under that provision. It dealt with district reapportionment, he said, "and the court sat on it for quite a while."

Court Okay Likely

Capitol speculation has been that the court would look favorably on the issue. However, relations between the two branches have soured recently as a result of the justices' decision not to pay a 50 - cent daily parking fee while apparently exceeding funds appropriated for furnishing their new offices.

Acting on another money matter Thursday, the House joined with the Senate in approving a $500,000 transfer of funds within the State Police budget. The money now goes to pay overtime for patrolmen involved in investigating a series of coed slayings in the Ann Arbor area last year and in handling crowds during a University of Michigan campus disturbance there.

Senate Adjourns

The Senate, meanwhile, met briefly before adjourning for a long weekend.

Among major items on the agenda when the Senate reconvenes Monday is a revision of a bill vetoed last year by Gov. William Milliken. The bill deals with definition and regulation of the small loans industry.

The current $1,000 maximum that small loan companies may lend would be boosted to $3,500 under terms of the bill introduced by Sen. Gary Byker, R-Hudsonville.

Nelson Urges Pesticide Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson introduced a bill today to outlaw eight long-lived insecticides, including one pest killer that has been called deadlier than DDT.

The eight insecticides are members of the family of chlorinated hydrocarbons. All are first cousins of DDT.

The step marked the first time that sweeping legislation to ban the widespread application of persistent pesticides have been introduced in Congress.

"The long-term toxicity of chlorinated hydrocarbon pesticides presents a deadly threat to fish, wildlife and the overall quality of our environment," declared the Wisconsin Democrat.

Nelson's legislative package would outlaw interstate sale or shipment of dieldrin, aldrin, chlordane, endrin, heptachlor, DDD-DDE, lindane and toxaphene.

Ralph MacMullan, director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, has called dieldrin a far greater hazard for fish and wildlife than DDT. He made the statement after watching the amounts of dieldrin and DDT build-up in Lake Michigan fishes to the point where they threaten natural reproduction.

Nelson, a leading Senate advocate of stricter controls on environmental poisons, also slapped the Department of Agriculture in detailing his legislative package.

GOP Blends Pollution Layout With Politics

Nixon, Aides Confer With City Mayors

CHICAGO (AP) — President Nixon and a Cabinet team blended pollution problems with practical politics today as part of a campaign to bring government closer to the people.

The President started trying to close the government-people gap after a conference with mayors of middle-sized cities in Indianapolis Thursday.

Pollution Checked

Then he had a chance to see air pollution from the air on a flight to Chicago past smoking plants at the tip of Lake Michigan.

Nixon's big jet landed at Chicago's O'Hare Field. He shifted to a helicopter there that lifted him over the city to Meigs Field on the lake front for a civic reception at which Democratic Mayor Richard J. Daley didn't stint the honors.

In advance of an antipollution conference with the governors of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, the first thing on the schedule today was an inspection of a pioneering sewage water treatment plant.

Water Purified

The plant is in Hanover Park, a 25-mile helicopter flight northwest from the Chicago Loop. Since September 1968 it has been turning polluted water into 99 per cent pure water which industry can use.

The President also is doing a bit of pioneering in the Midwest. He flew his Urban Affairs Council, made up mainly of Cabinet members, from Washington to Indianapolis to confer with nine mayors from over the nation on puzzling urban problems. Never before had the council met outside of Washington.

Nixon brought his Cabinet committee on environmental quality—mostly the same men—to Chicago to discuss with the quartet of lake state governors his aims and hopes for what he has termed a "now or never" campaign to wipe out pollution and save the environment in the 1970s.

Politics Noted

The presidential expedition to the lake area had its political touches. Nixon pumped hands and made short talks at almost every opportunity. Republican stalwarts with placards and cheers greeted him on his arrivals in both Indianapolis and Chicago.

Antiwar demonstrators turned up in both places—noisily but without causing any notable trouble.

The mayors and the President agreed that their two-hour session in Indianapolis was rewarding. Nixon told reporters it was a good conference because the mayors "laid it right on the line."

Most of the time was devoted to hearing their views, the President said. He said he thought the Cabinet got a new insight because the mayors said things they wouldn't have said in Washington.

2 Israeli Ships Hit By Blasts

TEL AVIV (AP) — Egyptian frogmen blew holes in the sides of two Israeli navy supply ships in Eilat harbor early today, sinking one and causing the other to be beached in shallow water.

Later in the day two Egyptian jet fighter-bombers streaked across the Suez Canal and attacked a U.N. observation post near the southern end of the canal, an Israeli spokesman said.

The spokesman made no mention of casualties to U.N. personnel but said two other Egyptian planes made bombing runs south of Port Taufiq and wounded one Israeli soldier.

An Egyptian military spokesman in Cairo confirmed Israeli suspicions Egypt was responsible for the attack at Eilat.

Israeli military censors would not allow newsmen to identify or describe the ships attacked, but the Egyptian spokesman said they were the tank carrier Beit Shafai and the troop transport Beit Yam. Both were being prepared for a military operation, the spokesman claimed.

Ships of those names are not listed in Jane's Fighting Ships, the standard reference on navies of the world, but apparently both ships were landing craft 50 to 100 feet long.

It was the second attack in three months by Arab frogmen in Eilat, Israel's southern port at the head of the Gulf of Aqaba. Defense Minister Moshe Dayan visited the port and told newsmen the attackers apparently were Egyptians.

A spokesman in Tel Aviv said no Israelis were hurt.

GE Strike Ends; Prices Going Up

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The General Electric Co. resuming production following a three-month strike, says prices on all major GE and Hotpoint appliances are going up approximately three per cent today.

Walter Bennett, public relations spokesman for the appliance and television group, said the price increases would apply to goods sent to distributors and "I have no idea when the cost will be passed on to the consumer. That all depends on the dealers."

Bennett said the price rise would be on air conditioners, home laundry units, ranges, dishwashers, garbage disposals, refrigerators and freezers.

E. L. Stehle, vice president and general manager of the appliance and television sales division, said in making the price-boost announcement Thursday that the higher prices were caused by a continued increase in manufacturing and distributing costs.

Death Penalty Hearing Has Its Drawbacks

LANSING (AP)—One senator stalked angrily out of the hearing as a procession of police officials testified in favor of the death penalty for first-degree murder of police and firemen killed in the line of duty.

Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, argued Thursday that under the same reasoning the death penalty should be imposed on police officials who "murder" Black Panthers.

"We should pay more attention to revising the criminal code that trying to put this inflammatory issue on the ballot," Brown said.

Sen. George Kuhn, R-Birmingham, is sponsor of the death penalty resolution. It would require a two-thirds vote of the Senate and House for passage plus a favorable vote by the people to change the present Michigan law.

Michigan never has had the death penalty since it became a state. There have been executions in federal prisons within the state, however.

Brown became enraged when interrupted by Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, R-Waterford, while he was questioning a witness. Lodge objected that Brown was "philosophizing."

Brown said if members of the Senate Judiciary Committee wouldn't listen to him he would leave. "I didn't interrupt them," he complained.

"If the press wasn't here I'd tell you exactly what you could do with this resolution," Brown shouted as a parting shot.

Earlier, Sen. Robert Richardson, R - Saginaw, committee chairman, promised, at the urging of Brown, he would hold at least one more hearing to obtain the views members of the corrections department, penal experts, citizens and those who might be opposed to the death penalty before the committee took a vote on the resolution. He said the date or location of the hearing has not yet been set.

Lodge also suggested the death penalty be imposed for first-degree murders committed during armed robberies, kidnapping or rapes.

Carswell Hits Back At Critics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court nominee G. Harrold Carswell has emphatically denied he was hostile or discourteous to civil rights litigants and their attorneys.

"Lawyers from all parts of the nation have practiced before me over the years without any suggestion of any act or word of discourtesy or hostility on my part," Judge Carswell said Thursday in a letter to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

And Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said the Committee has received numerous telegrams, letters and telephone calls from judges, lawyers and litigants—"including Negro civil rights lawyers"—backing Carswell's denial.

The messages are to be made part of the record, along with Carswell's letter answering testimony given at committee hearings by civil rights spokesmen and others fighting Senate confirmation of his nomination.

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., who forced a delay in committee action on Carswell's appointment until at least Feb. 16, declined comment on the letter pending further study. Eastland called it "an excellent reply."

Tydings said he expects the committee to vote at its next meeting, either Feb. 16 or 17, on the nomination. Although he refused to say how he will vote, he predicted Carswell will win committee approval.

At a committee meeting Thursday, Tydings invoked a rule giving any member the right to delay a vote a week. He said later "it would have been highly irregular to jam this through before Carswell's rebuttal was received."

Lawmakers Cautious About Budget Reaction

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken's $1,737 billion budget proposals — and his admonition to raise taxes or chop the already tight spending plan — drew little reaction from lawmakers Thursday.

"I've got it here," said one legislator, pointing to the 81 - page budget plan handed out in the House and Senate Thursday morning. "But I haven't had a chance to open it yet."

Demos Reserve Comment
Democratic leaders, who generally are quick to find at least one point in a Republican program to criticize, reserved comment.

"This is an important document and will require more than cursory treatment before I can speak on any part of it in any manner," decided Senate Minority Leader George Fitzgerald, D-Grosse Pointe.

"I will take the rest of this week and part of next week for a comprehensive analysis of the message," Fitzgerald added.

Meeting Planned
He said House Speaker William Ryan, D-Detroit, and Democratic State Chairman James McNeely would confer with him and the three might detail their responses to the budget proposals jointly next week.

Senate Appropriations chairman Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, said the budget proposals indicated Milliken "has tightened the belt on expenditures."

The governor said his proposals, although adding $197.1 million to current spending, fell some $6.5 million short of the total anticipated last year for fiscal 1970-71.

Economy Considered

He said the figures took into account a sagging economy and anticipated strikes in the auto industry this year.

Zollar added, however, that the budget proposals — and Milliken's specification that his figures assume the Legislature would pick up an additional $143 million in revenue from new or increased taxes—put lawmakers in a position where they should act immediately.

Revenue Vote Set

"The Legislature will have the priority of voting on the revenue or it will not be possible to even pass this minimal budget," Zollar said, noting Milliken's assurance of an "austerity" plan to be submitted if no new funds are forthcoming.

"If (lawmakers) don't agree with the need for new revenue, we in appropriations can only follow one mandate," Zollar said. "That's to cut to the recognized revenue available."

Zollar urged the Senate Taxation Committee to "get those bills out on the floor so we can start working."

Problem With Site Delays Holiday Inn

The sale by the City of Escanaba of 13.6 acres south of Highway 2-41 at the west city limits — an area in which representatives of Holiday Inns of America have expressed interest — is delayed by problems discussed briefly by the City Council Thursday night.

The nearly 14 acres with frontage on the highway has been appraised for the city at $65,000, reported City Controller Howard Smale. The figure was set as the minimum bid.

The property was advertised for sale by the city, with bid closing scheduled for 4 p. m. Thursday. No bids were received.

Smale told the Council there are several reasons why no

Boy Scout Week

Boy Scout Week will be observed beginning Sunday, Feb. 8, and in recognition of the observance the City Council has adopted a resolution expressing support for the organization and calling upon the public to participate in the events.

At the Council meeting last night, following invocation by the Rev. L. A. Pomeroy of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, Cub Scout Troop No. 414 under the leadership of Russel Willyard, led the Council and audience in the pledge of allegiance. A special message on respect to the flag was also presented.

Cooperating with the Boy Scouts in their program of service, the City Council agreed to enter into a lease arrangement with the Hiawatha Council, in which the Scouts will be allowed recreational and training use of 40 acres of city-owned land at the city's northwest side.

bids were forthcoming after "must interest" had been expressed in acquiring the land. The reasons included, he said:

1 — There are no sanitary or storm sewers extended to the site; and 2 — "There is some doubt in some minds" on the validity of the city's title to the property.

Smale suggested to the Council that the city begin procedures necessary to obtain clear title to the property and that a further recommendation will be forthcoming. The Council, taking no action, concurred in the suggestion to proceed with efforts to establish title.

The city in advertising for bids required:

Each bidder to submit a site development plan including buildings to be erected within a period of six months from the date of the deed; construction to begin within six months of the date of the deed; and the successful bidder to assume all

League Favors Direct Election Of President

The League of Women Voters of the U.S. announces a new national position in favor of the direct popular election of the President and Vice-President and the abolishment of the present Electoral College system, a consensus position in which the Escanaba League participates.

The action, taken by the League's Board of Directors, marks the beginning of a national effort for a Constitutional Amendment establishing a direct election method. The League position also includes provisions for a run-off election in the event that no candidate receives more than 40 percent of the votes cast.

League President Mrs. Bruce B. Benson, Amherst, Mass., said that of over 1,000 Leagues registering an opinion in the consensus making process, 78 percent were in support of the direct election method. Only four Leagues favored retaining the present system.

The League of Women Voters will immediately press for the passage of a Senate Joint Resolution for a direct election amendment during this session of Congress.

Hanna Mining Co. Reaches New High With '69 Income

The Hanna Mining Co., Cleveland, today reported net income for 1969 as the highest in the history of the company. This was the eighth consecutive year in which the company's earnings set a new high.

G. W. Humphrey, chairman, and W. A. Marting, president, announced that net income for 1969 increased eight percent to $24,765,823, or $2.85 per share of common stock, as compared to $23,030,174, or $2.65 per share in 1968.

They said record earnings for 1969 were achieved despite lower dividend income, which totaled $12,725,558 in 1969 as compared with $14,971,535 in 1968.

"This reduction in dividend income resulted from reduced dividends from the Iron Ore Company of Canada, caused by a three-month strike at that property during the summer," they reported.

"Improved profit contributions from our U. S. iron ore operations and from our Nickel Division more than offset the decline in dividend income."

Net sales and operating revenues in 1969 were $175,988,375 as compared to $153,104,082 the previous year.

Fire Destroys Micheau Home

CORNELL—Fire starting in the attic of a two-story frame dwelling occupied by Bud and Norman Micheau spread rapidly and destroyed the home Thursday evening, despite efforts of the Gladstone Fire Department.

The cause of the fire has not been determined. It started about 7:45 p. m. and spread so fast that icicles and snow were still on the roof while flames poured from the windows.

The dwelling had been built in 1910 and was the Micheau farm home. The brothers Bud and Norman, who are unmarried, discovered the fire, and with the help of neighbors were able to save most of the furnishings.

The Gladstone Fire Department, responding to the call, was unable to bring the blaze under control.

Plan Waterfowl Area Near Cedar River

A 45,000-acre state and federal waterfowl management area is being planned in the Hayward Lake area of Menominee County, it was learned today.

Part of the area, located southwest of Cedar River, eventually would be established as a new national wildlife refuge.

It is expected the development would induce many geese to stop over in the Upper Peninsula during their fall migration flights, thereby alleviating the problem of over-crowding of geese on the Horicon National Wildlife Refuge in Wisconsin.

The state-federal cooperative proposal will be presented to the Michigan Natural Resources Commission for its approval in principle at the commission's meeting in Lansing next Thursday and Friday.

State To Manage
The state portion of the project would total about 24,000 acres, of which some 13,000 acres are now state-owned. The federal portion would cover about 21,000 acres, of which 5-000 are now state-owned.

The state would retain title to these lands and full authority for administration and management of all resources other than wildlife and the water needed for waterfowl management, but would make the lands available to the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife for management as an integral part of its wildlife programs.

Both agencies would have to acquire additional lands and would maintain balanced hunting programs, involving both refuge areas and public hunting areas for waterfowl and resident game. All hunting would conform to Michigan law and regulations set by the commission.

Agreement Reached
The two agencies already have reached general agreement on the proposal, and it now becomes necessary to complete working out a formal cooperative agreement between the federal bureau and the state DNR.

The basic reason for the proposal to develop a major waterfowl project at Hayward Lake is its location on a major flyway for Canada geese. A considerable portion of the Mississippi Valley flock, which totals about 350,000 birds before hunting season, funnels south across the Upper Peninsula, west of Lake Michigan. As many as 150,000 to 170,000 have gathered at the Horicon Refuge, about 135 miles southward, where their large numbers have created problems of crop damage on numerous farms surrounding the refuge.

Expect Geese
An important reason for the desire of the federal government to participate in the proposal is the expectation that many geese will stop over at Hayward Lake for some weeks, thereby shortening their stay at the Horicon Refuge or perhaps completely by-passing Horicon on their subsequent flight south. Holding back geese at Hayward Lake, in an area where agricultural damage would not be significant, would relieve federal officials of the annual headache they get from farmer complaints in the Horicon area.

"We anticipate that with proper management a large number of geese can be induced to linger at Hayward Lake well into November to provide abundant hunting opportunities outside the refuge and a wildlife spectacle unsurpassed in Northern Michigan," DNR officials stated.

Competition Is Rough, But Scholarships Are Available To Students

By SHARON HILTON

Interested in a scholarship? Most college bound students are. The competition's rough. Are you one of those who's going to sit back and say "I'll never get one, why should I even bother trying" or are you going to buckle down and put a little effort into trying to win a scholarship.

You don't have to be an Einstein to get a scholarship, but you do have to be willing to try, say Guidance Counselors at Escanaba Area High School.

In order to get a scholarship, students must compete with others of the same age, and basically, each must be good at something and be able to prove it in competition with others in the same field.

"The National Catalog of Scholarships" suggests these ten points to aid the students:

1. Choose your vocation as early as possible;
2. Select your college;
3. Plan your high school program;
4. Learn to study effectively;
5. Make good grades;
6. Become a well-rounded individual;
7. Keep informed on financial aids;
8. Learn about scholarship requirements;
9. Prepare for scholarship application early, and
10. Ask questions.

"Generally speaking some sort of test must be taken before a scholarship is awarded to a student," said guidance counselors at the high school. "Scholarships are given according to the test results, but are also based on the student's need."

Different Types
For the most part, a student must rank in the upper one fourth or even the upper 10 per cent of his class in order to compete for a scholarship.

There are several different types of scholarships—organization and agency sponsored, memorial, and state and national scholarships. Within these areas there are many scholarships available.

A student from the Escanaba area can apply for any scholarship which does not have area or job restrictions. Examples of restrictions are: the local memorial scholarships are available only to students in this area; and the Western Union Scholarships are available only to children of employees of Western Union Telegraph Company.

"Applications are obtained from the guidance office or through the college which one is planning to attend," said the counselors. "Most colleges consider a student eligible for a scholarship or financial aid, if necessary, once he has applied to and been accepted at that college."

In All Fields
There are a great number of scholarships that are familiar to the area students such as the National Merit, Alfred P. Sloan, and State of Michigan Scholarships.

Munising Snowbanks Becoming 'Monstrous'

MUNISING—Snowbanks in Munising are posing quite a problem for householders, who have to throw the stuff ever higher in clearing walks and driveways almost daily.

They're beginning to describe them as "monstrous" as snow continues to fall, with winds aggravating the problem by causing drifts much of the time.

113 Inches In Winter

Another six inches fell during the 24-hour period ending at 8 this morning. Of the winter's total fall of 113 inches, 45 came down in January and nearly nine inches so far in February.

Except for the three-day mild spell last weekend, the snow has been accumulating steadily.

Besides the snowshoveling chore, snow on roofs is creating additional problems. It's three to four feet thick in some cases. And some reports of water seeping through roofs (melted snow backed up by solid ice near the edges) are being received.

All highways are clear, but city and county plowing crews are continuing their round-the-clock schedule to keep all streets and roads open. Difficulty is still being experienced on the 12-mile stretch of M-28 from Munising to AuTrain, where winds off the lake cause drifts to form every few hours.

Wednesday's temperatures ranged from a low of -20 to a high of 11. It was 10 above at 8 this morning.

Airport Future

A member of the city of Escanaba's official family commented during the height of one of the community's frequent snow storms this winter that if the snow keeps up like this the Municipal Airport will bankrupt the city within five years.

That view would seem a little extreme, but it does draw attention to an increasingly difficult burden for the City of Escanaba — the cost of operating and maintaining a modern, well-equipped airport — unless some new approach is made to shift and strengthen the basis of support for the facility.

Maintaining snow-free runways has been a king-sized headache for the city this winter, the first in the "jet age" for the community. The DC-9 jet, bigger and faster with greater passenger capacity, also is more temperamental about landing conditions than the smaller Conquairs also used by North Central Airlines. And so to get the DC-9 into Escanaba and out again every day, the east-west runway must be in nearly mid-summer condition.

This creates a problem for the city public works department as it runs somewhat in conflict with policy expressed by the City Council which specifies that city streets get first priority on snow removal. Most equipment available for airport work is also used for street work. Sending it to the airport slows up work in the city.

Then, after plow drivers have battled time and snow to clear the field, there have been days when the jet flies over, anyway, as snow continues to fall or another storm begins.

North Central officials have been generous in their praise of the city's efforts to clean the runway, but the fact remains that all of the time and effort expended still hasn't been good enough on many occasions. The Air Line Pilots Association has gone so far as to request that DC-9 service into Escanaba (along with Iron Mountain and Marquette) be discontinued during winter. Snow removal was one of the reasons.

"Snow removal and ice control is done by the City of Escanaba, necessitating considerable advance notice which is usually not accomplished when there is an overnight snowfall," said Wendell K. Howell, safety chairman for the pilots group.

A more effective job of snow removal could be done at the airport, officials agree, but only if the proper equipment is available at the field. And that, of course, would cost more money in equipment outlay and in salaries for the operators. The pilots also cited fire equipment and overnight facilities to service jets as needs here.

The snow removal problem, however, is only a part of the total picture.

Total operating costs, according to City Controller Howard Smale, will run about $43,500 this year and could go higher. Of that cost, the city recoups some cash from landing fees and rentals paid by terminal tenants, makes a little money on a sale of gasoline to transient planes and also gets a $15,000 appropriation from the Delta County Board of Supervisors. But even with the income mentioned, the major cost of operating the airport rests on the taxpayers of the city.

It's an unfair burden for Escanaba to bear alone. Outside of being closer to the boarding ramps, no benefit available to city residents isn't also available to non-city residents.

Make no mistake, the Escanaba Municipal Airport is not a private club for Escanaba residents. It is used by people from every corner of Delta County and others from parts of Menominee County, Alger County and Schoolcraft County.

The City of Escanaba carried the ball by spending the necessary money to extend the east-west runway and build a new terminal building, but hopefully that won't bind the city to support the airport into eternity. Costs are not going to decline. As air transportation grows and service is improved, expenses are going to increase.

The logical solution would be some sort of regional Airport Authority, encompassing the entire service area of the airport, with the power to levy and collect taxes. The Authority would be responsible for complete operation of the present airport and also for making plans for future air service in its region. (Presently, the Municipal Airport is adequate for the needs of the area, but how about 10 or 20 or 50 years from now? Will the needs of the future require that the airport be relocated away from Escanaba's residential areas?)

Developing such a proposition and selling it to the people of the area admittedly would be a difficult assignment. But it's time that the wheels start turning. That "five years to bankruptcy plan" may not be as far fetched as it sounds.

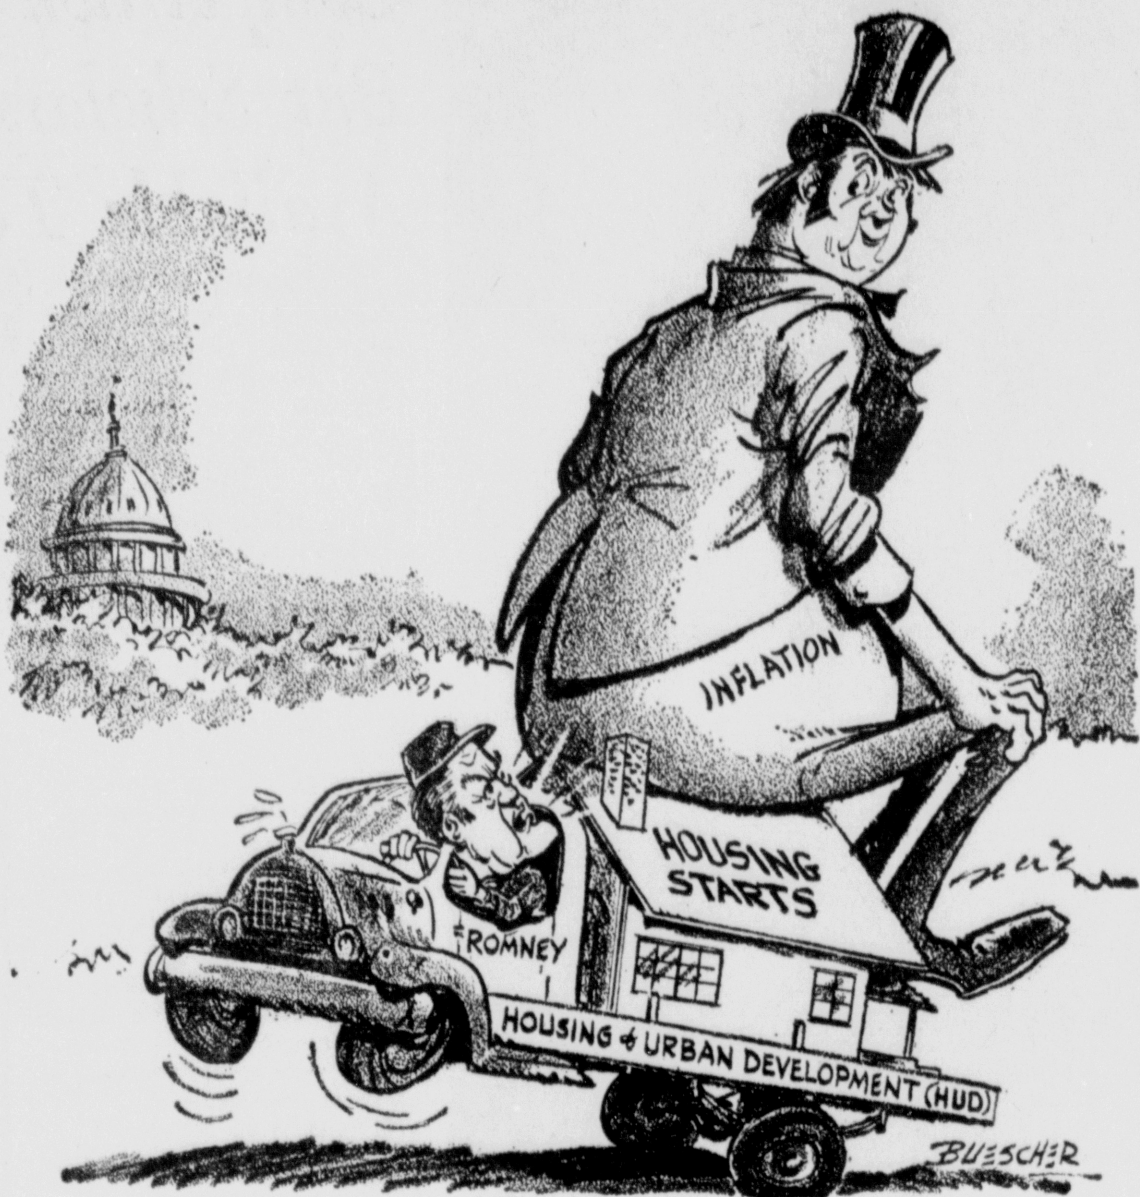

Peninsula Potpourri

Four members of an Isle Royale National Park unit bound for Isle Royale to participate in the yearly moose-wolf study by Purdue University were stranded by a storm in Eveleth, Minn. As soon as weather permits, the group will be flown to the island.

According to Houghton village police, Stanley Archambeau of Huron town, a village employee operating an endloader, was assaulted by two men who were throwing snowballs at the machine. Archambeau was attacked when he told them to stop throwing the snowballs. During the scuffle, a mirror on a pickup truck parked nearby was broken and Archambeau received facial injuries.

Representatives of snowmobile clubs in the Ontonagon area met with the Ontonagon County Road Commission and asked that the Old Greenland Road be utilized if possible for snowmobiling after the new road is constructed. The commission adopted a resolution asking the Michigan Highway Commission not to demolish existing bridges on the old route and that rights-of-way not used for the new highway be deeded back to the county.

Local People Could Save Federal Cash

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

I am generally listed as a conservative columnist, and, though I think of myself primarily as a libertarian, (meaning that I favor a voluntary approach to solving our problems), I am willing to accept the description. At least it sets me apart from the liberals who always couple their proposed reforms with a demand that the government use the club of high-tax compulsion to put them into effect.

As a conservative, however, I am a bit puzzled by the attitude of some of my more pessimistic brethren toward President Nixon's State of the Union speech. They assume that Mr. Nixon, in urging that big sums of money be allocated to such things as cleaning up pollution and training the unemployed in negotiable job skills, is making his goal of a balanced budget unattainable.

The fact, however, is that the President has proposed to add something here and take away something there. For my taste, he doesn't go far enough in taking money away from numerous boondoggles.

There is no sense in appropriating education money to perpetuate bad methods of reading instruction, or to force inter-area school busing on unwilling people in defiance of the very words of the law that says desegregation does not compel racial balance where it does not exist geographically.

But the Nixon Welfare Plan, while it could be negated by lax administrators, dishonest and self-serving social workers, and pressure politics at the local levels, must, if its terms are enforced, decrease the percentage of the non-working poor. And the Nixon Anti-Pollution crusade, while it envisages the use of federal funds, does not preclude a big turnout by thousands of the private citizens and voluntary organizations to clean up our streets, our rivers, our countryside, and the circumambient air.

Job training has been ineffective, largely because the original Sargent Shriver approach to the business savored too much of the Civilian Conservation. Camps approach of the 1930s. On the other hand, when the training was turned over to the Ford Motor Co. or to Pan American World Airways (to pick a couple of big corporations at random) it did work. Unless we are prepared to say that nobody has a responsibility to train welfare cases to take jobs, Nixon's critics should have stressed the positive elements of his plan. They could insist that he replace the present breed of social workers who are always trying to find excuses for keeping unemployed mothers from making trade-off deals which would allow some of them to take jobs while the rest look after the pre-school children.

And they could urge the President to come up with tax incentives that can lure the corporations into accepting and training the so-called "hard core" cases. Finally, they could insist that Congress, in passing a "work-or-else" law, define "job suitability" in the broadest possible terms as meaning any job that would not be detrimental to the health of the man or woman who is offered it.

As for pollution control, it must in the nature of things be a cooperative effort. The farmer must be convinced that if he puts DDT on his crops in situations that tend to poison the land or the rivers and lakes he will suffer a penalty. And the company that pours unhealthy rust or chemical residues into our streams or air must be put on its mettle—and its honor—to come up with pollution control devices or be subjected after a period to a smog or water contamination tax.

Similarly with the auto companies: the issue of a bad exhaust system or a defective carburetor could be a reason for slapping a company with a fine.

My own home town has announced that it will make the local anti-litter law much stiffer. This attitude, multiplied over the land, isn't going to cost the Federal government anything. The clear duty of conservatives, it seems to me, is to find voluntary ways of saving Nixon money on his crusades, not to throw cold water on the need for the crusades as such.

If the money can be saved, the White House won't have to spend it even though Congress has appropriated it.

American History's Values Acclaimed

"The United States of America has a heritage rich in example of patriotism and national dedication of people," Michigan Governor William Milliken said in calling for February as American History Month.

"From this heritage springs our present greatness and our future progress. From it also comes the sincere efforts of our people, present and past, to translate into practice each day

Their Sacrifice

One of the objectives of the Daughters of the American Revolution who sponsor February as American History Month is "to perpetuate the memory and spirit of the men and women who achieved American independence."

Have you ever wondered what happened to the fifty six men who placed their lives and fortunes in jeopardy to sign the Declaration of Independence?

Five were captured by the British and tortured before they died; 12 had their homes ransacked and burned; two lost their sons in the Revolutionary War and another had two sons captured. Nine fought and died in the Revolutionary action. Several of them died in poverty and others died broken hearted. Such was their sacrifice for independence.

the principles of freedom, justice and democracy on which our nation was founded," he added.

The observance of American History Month in Michigan and other states is promoted by the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, said Mrs. Marjorie Welch, Escanaba, regent, Lewis Cass Chapter, DAR.

The DAR, with the cooperation of schools, government, and other institutions "is endeavoring to instill within all Americans, especially the school children, the importance attached to the history of this nation," and to "perpetuate the memory and spirit of the men and women who achieved American independence."

The reading and study of American history is a rich and rewarding experience, says Gov. Milliken.

"It helps us to appreciate how unique our nation is and respect, honor and follow the great national ideals and principles upon which our country has grown."

"These principles are seen in their broadest concept when viewed in the light of the historical events which brought them into being, nurtured and guarded them and gave them importance. Our history is courageous and inspiring because of the people who lived it and because of the manner in which they solved the great problems of their times," said Gov. Milliken.

"The reading of American history should be encouraged and pursued — not just in our schools but in our homes, and not just by our young people but by their parents as well — so that citizens will realize the importance of the foundations on which our nation was built and thus strive to preserve this greatness."

ARE YOU KIDDING

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—The plane was flying at 25,000 feet when the stewardess noticed that Jim Kelly and two other men were in the wrong section.

As the three were stowing away their coats in the tourist section, another passenger looked up from the paper he was reading.

"Hi," he said pleasantly, "you fellows just get on?"

BIDDING QUIZ

You are the dealer, both sides vulnerable, and have opened One Heart. Partner responds One Notrump. What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠ KJ5 ♥ AQJ9874 ♦ 3 ♣ A9
2. ♠ K2 ♥ AJ743 ♦ A76 ♣ KJ5
3. ♠ 8 ♥ KQ8752 ♦ K4 ♣ AK73
4. ♠ AQ9 ♥ KQJ54 ♦ J6 ♣ AK2

1. Four hearts. It would be wrong to bid only three hearts, even though the hand contains only 15 high-card points. A jump to three hearts would not be forcing and partner might pass with a hand good enough to produce game.

You have eight probable tricks and partner is likely to contribute two more even with minimum values for his notrump response. You could go down, of course, if partner had the wrong kind of hand, but this is a risk well worth taking.

2. Pass. Game is highly unlikely and the best thing to do is pass. The notrump response shows 6 to 9 points, which means you have a poor chance of finding the combined total of 26 points ordinarily required for three notrump.

The only other possible bid is two notrump, but the objection to this strong rebid is that there are too many hands partner may have where even an eight-trick contract would be in serious danger. A raise to two notrump would show 17 to 19 points.

3. Two clubs. Although the best chance for game undoubtedly lies in hearts, the best way to find this contract, strangely enough, is by a two club bid.

To jump to three hearts (not forcing) is not quite satisfactory, for even that contract would be in danger if partner lacked trump support. A rebid of two hearts would almost surely be passed, since the notrump responder practically always passes the simple rebid of a suit.

By contrast, the two club bid offers great advantages. If partner passes, you are unlikely to have a game anywhere. But if partner gives you a preference to two hearts, you have the opportunity to bid three hearts, thus revealing for the first time that your opening bid was better than a minimum. Partner can then decide whether or not to carry on.

If partner raises two clubs to three, your chances for game improve considerably, and three hearts, four hearts, or even five clubs, all become feasible rebids.

4. Three notrump. With 20 points facing at least 6, a raise to three notrump is clearly best. Of course, you'd like to have better diamonds, but that shouldn't stop you from leaping to game. You can't bid every game with 100% assurance of success.

Father's Gift Of Kidney May Give Son Good Future

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 17-year-old Holly has hope for the future because of his father's forthcoming gift of a kidney and the generosity of his hometown.

Brad Wilson was born with only one partial kidney. He had lived a relatively normal life until last December, when he suffered an infection which nearly killed him. Since then, he has been kept alive with artificial kidney treatments.

His father is donating one of his two healthy kidneys to the youth and residents of the northern Oakland County town of Holly have raised $3,000 to help defray the cost of surgery.

He is scheduled to undergo preliminary surgery Feb. 13 and will receive the transplant about two weeks later.

GE Union Votes To End Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 100,000 General Electric Co. workers have voted nearly 3-1 to accept a new contract and end a 101-day-old strike.

Some of the workers prepared have returned to work while others were expected to wait as late as Monday.

Voting had not been reported from the remaining 30,000 strikers.

A spokesman for the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, largest of the 13 unions with 78,000 members in the nationwide strike, said local operations would dictate when its members returned.

The independent United Electrical Workers—which represents about 16,000 workers—approved the contract. So did the American Flint Glass Workers for its small unit in GE's Logan, Ohio plant, and an 80-member unit of Firemen and Oilers in Louisville, Ky.

Ann Landers

Mentally Bankrupt Couple No Company

Dear Ann Landers: Do I owe our host and hostess an apology? George and I were invited to dinner by a couple we knew only casually through George's work. The dinner was in their home — just the four of us. After dinner our host brought out his "hobby." I was speechless when he displayed a folder with about 150 photographs of naked people. There were pictures of men and women together, groups of two, three, four and six. Some pictures included animals — in living color. I thought I'd die.

George couldn't get his eyes full enough. The other couple seemed very pleased with his interest. I just sat there. Finally the wife said to me, "Apparently you don't appreciate art." I replied, "Art, yes. Pornography, no."

Our host then launched into a lecture about erotic masterpieces going back to ancient Greece and Rome. I started to say something about Sodom and Gomorrah and George nudged me and whispered, "Button your lip. I'm having a ball."

On the way home he read me the riot act because I was "rude." George says, when in Rome you're supposed to do as the Romans do. Is he right? — George's Square Wife

Dear Wife: It depends on what the Romans are doing. In my opinion, your husband owes you an apology for subjecting you to such an evening. Tell George that in the future he's not to take you to places where the people are so mentally bankrupt that they have to haul out dirty pictures because they are too dumb to think of anything to say.

Dear Ann Landers: Billy is the youngest of three boys, small for his age and not inclined toward athletics, which makes his father angry. The older boys excelled in sports so the comparison is glaring. Billy likes poetry and plays the piano beautifully but his father considers this sissy stuff and belittles him. He is also an excellent student, which the other boys were not, but he gets no praise from his dad on this score.

To complicate matters, Billy has a noticeable lisp. I was told he might outgrow it, but he hasn't. Last night Billy asked his father to pass the salt and this was the response: "Yeth, I will path the thalt, if you will thup liphthip."

The older boys faked a weak laugh but it was apparent they didn't think it was funny. Billy had all he could do to fight back the tears. I was heart sick. This is only one incident among many. How can I protect the boy against his father's cruelty? — Ohio M.

Dear M.: That bully husband of yours is in need of counseling. If he refuses, I hope you will go instead and learn how to be a buffer between father and son without coddling the boy and damaging him further. I urge you to take Billy to a speech therapist. Lipping can be conquered with proper help. And good luck to him, and to you, too, dear.

Confidential To Victim Too Many Times: It has been said that we cannot prevent the swallows of sorrow from flying over our heads but we don't have to let them make nests in our hair.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you think you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Clyde K. Bowles arrived in Escanaba to assume his duties as manager of the local S. S. Kresge Co. store. Bowles replaces N. J. Holden, who recently resigned his position with that firm.

50 Years Ago

Mayor Chatfield was asked by representatives of the Escanaba Women's Club if it would not be possible to set aside a portion of the basement of the city hall as a store room for old clothing which is donated to the club or used in connection with its charitable work.

Miss Flora Bowman, nurse in the Escanaba public schools, has been shown some very fine work, as shown by the monthly report made to Supt. W. E. Olds. During the month ended Miss Bowman made 46 school visits and 190 inspections. She also visited 64 homes. In this manner Miss Bowman endeavors to secure the cooperation of the home and the school for the health of the children.

PRESERVE FORESTS

WALDEN, Colo. (AP) — Each year the U. S. Forest Service office at Walden buys about 3,000 bushels of cones from Lodgepole pines picked by mountain hikers. The price is $3 a bushel. Each bushel produces about a half pound of seed, used to replant over and burned-over forest lands.

HEAVY SQUARE WOOD COLUMNS which support the two-storied portico give this five-bedroom Southern Colonial an air of luxury living, producing a favorable first impression and making the house appear much bigger than it is.

Compact Layout Featured

By Andy Lang

A most unusual house, this. Although its exterior has the generous proportions of Colonial architecture of the deep South . . . although it has five bedrooms . . . although it has more than 2700 square feet of living area . . .

It is only 47' wide, no more than many two and three bedroom houses with half the habitable square footage. Thus, in many areas it can be built on a lot no wider than 60'.

This interesting arrangement has been made possible by the compact layout of architect Herman H. York. Even more intriguing, perhaps, are the features designed into the practical plan. Among them are the raised living room, neither on the first nor second floor but six risers up on a level of its own; the placement of the family room on a concrete slab, the outside balcony off the master bedroom; and the small basement, extending only under the living room to provide a compromise for those who want some basement area but balk at paying for unwanted excess space.

The plan has excellent traffic flow for, whether one enters through the main door, the side service door or the garage, he finds himself in the core of the house in an area conveniently adjacent to all principle rooms. The stair system too is in a central location, making vertical circulation with minimum effort.

The kitchen is in a control position, serving the dining room toward the front, the family room toward the rear and the patio directly down a path connected by a side door. Thus the homemaker is in a location which gives her the advantages of overseeing the activities of the children. The laundry equipment is in a large room, with enough space to allow for an ironing board, mud closet, counter and cabinet space. Large windows and a glazed door will make this room a cheerful place in which to do the laundry chores. A lavatory nearby serves both the general first floor living area as well as the garage and service spaces.

The living room is elevated six risers to a level of its own, thereby making it possible to furnish it without cross traffic. There are two fireplaces shown, one for the living room and the other in the family room. The family room, as mentioned, is placed on a slab, with sliding glass doors leading directly to the rear patio. A log bin is built into the brick wall as an architectural feature of this end of the room. A serving pass-through between kitchen and family room is another of the little touches provided.

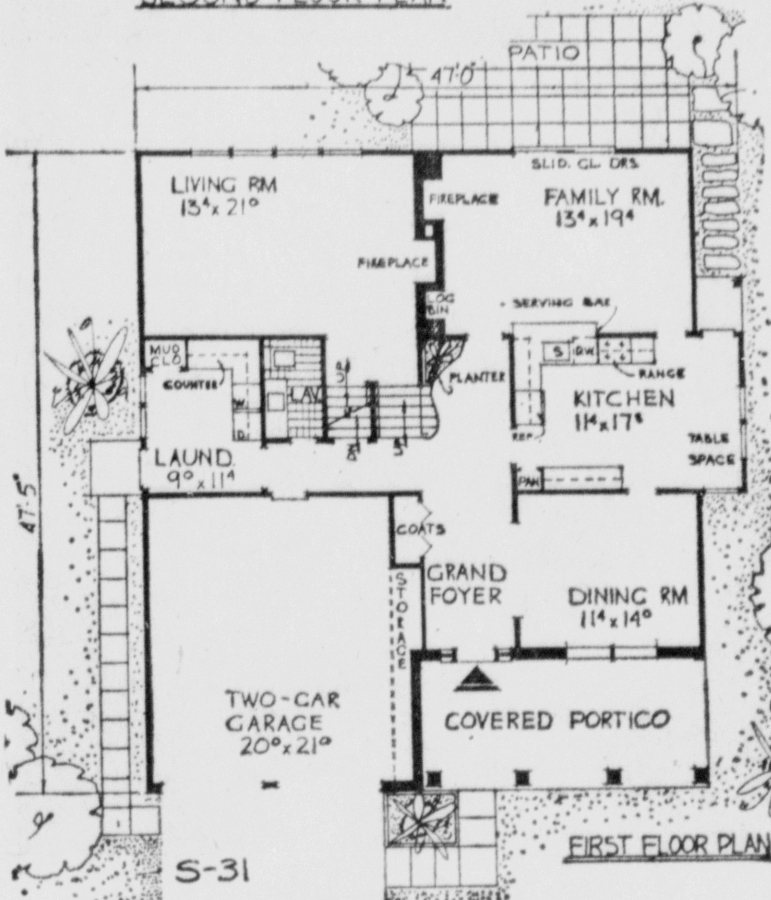

Upstairs there are five bedrooms, with their approach across a balcony stair hall. The hall bath is a split type with four fixtures giving triple use to the facilities.

The owner's room, with its balcony, has large storage areas with dressing alcove and private bath. It overlooks the living room, this made possible by a raised cathedral ceiling.

There are two linen closets, one of which can be at least partially used for storage of vacuum cleaner. There is additional storage for cleaning accessories in the vanity storage space under the double lavatory in the split bath.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

FLOOR PLANS: Although a two-story house, the floor plans show how a third level has been created by placing the living room a few steps above the first floor and removing it from any possible cross traffic. Over-all circulation is excellent.

S-31 STATISTICS

Design S-31 has a living room, dining room, kitchen, family room, foyer, lavatory and laundry room on the first floor, with a habitable area of 1432 square feet. There are five bedrooms and two baths upstairs, totaling 1280 square feet. There is a two-car garage, with a partial basement under the living room. Over-all dimensions are 47' by 47'5" which include the garage.

Playthings Can Be Dangerous

EAST LANSING (AP) — Careful of the toys you buy for your children, warns a Michigan State University family life specialist.

They could kill him.

Mrs. Gail Imig of MSU says that every so often toys can turn out to be lethal objects—if not selected carefully.

"Adults often lose track of what children can handle at what age," Mrs. Imig says. "Sometimes a toy is safe only if given to a child who is old enough to handle it."

She says tiny children put things into their mouth, so parents should watch for labels that say crayons and paint or dye on toys are "nontoxic." Toys also should be big enough so children can't swallow them.

Mrs. Imig warns against electrical toys for preschoolers, as well as breakable items—plastic, glass and metal toys that have very sharp edges when broken.

MSU Initiates Seminars For Husbands, Wives

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Pity wives to Phoenix. Behavioral psychologists make up the faculty. And the seminar is being held at one of the plush resorts which prove attractive to Midwesterners at this time of the year.

First, make the distinction in your own mind between "respect for" something and "identification with" something.

The rest is easy and goes like this, with the "basic values" of the older generation listed first, those of the now generation second: Work, Earn; Save, Spend; Rest, Fun; Other Worldly, Co-worldly; Pray and worship, Social action; Personal God, Impersonal God; Propagation, Sex; Functional unity, Psychological compatibility.

And as for secondary values, the older generation has "respect for" the first word, the and brought members and now generation "identification

Ford Offers To Change Autos As Pollution Curb

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. says it will redesign its cars if a pollution-curing lead-free gasoline is developed.

"The petroleum industry and the automobile industry now have an opportunity to achieve the goal of cleaner air for everyone," Henry Ford II, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., said in a letter to heads of 19 major oil companies.

The letter, dated Jan. 27, was made public by the nation's second largest automaker after Atlantic Richfield Co. said Thursday in New York it would produce such a lead-free gasoline if the auto industry designs an engine to use the anti-pollution fuel.

A spokesman for Chrysler Corp. said that the exact specifications of the fuel being discussed were known, would not comment on the Atlantic Richfield statement. General Motors also refused comment.

Lead added to gasoline to increase engine efficiency, is widely considered a major source of air pollution caused by autos.

Robert O. Anderson, chairman of Atlantic Richfield, said the combination of a lead-free gasoline and a new engine designed to use this fuel appears a most promising route to the development of an essentially pollution-free automobile.

Ford wrote the oil executives about the need for a nationwide availability of lead-free gasoline in the fight against pollution, noting "the sooner lead-free fuel is available, the better."

"Just as soon as we are assured that an adequate supply will be available, we will build our new cars with modified power systems so that they can operate effectively with regular grade fuel," Ford wrote.

He said the introduction of such a fuel could be eased by the petroleum industry by retaining at least temporarily its two-fuel system.

"Once fuel could be lead-free with an antiknock rating equivalent to that of today's regular grade fuel or whatever you recommend," Ford wrote.

"All new engines manufactured by us following the country-wide introduction of this fuel would be modified to function properly on this fuel with emission control devices," Ford wrote.

"This fuel also would satisfy the needs of 63 per cent of all used cars now in use. The second fuel could be leaded and would have an antiknock rating equivalent to that of today's premium grade fuel. It would be available for use by the remaining 37 per cent of used cars," Ford said.

Atlantic Richfield said the new fuel would be sold in the fall of 1971 if the automakers have enough new cars on the road with internal combustion engines designed to use the lead-free gas.

The company said it would first make the fuel available in California because the "problem of air pollution is most severe there at the present time."

'Sleeping Beauty' Segment Hailed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Dame Margot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev in a pas de deux from "Sleeping Beauty" was a charming segment of "The Dean Martin Show" Thursday night, even though Martin stumbled over the names and tried to be funny about ballet.

And the ballet did not even seem out of place following "Shuffle Off to Buffalo" by the Goldiggers and a Corbett Monica monologue along the "take my wife—please." line.

Producers of public television's "Sesame Street" hope to announce financing for another season of the children's program within two or three weeks.

The original funding, $8 million, paid for one year of research and the current season of 130 programs. This came from federal grants of $4 million, another $2.75 million from the Carnegie and Ford foundations and smaller amounts from other foundations.

Producers of the series want $7 million for another year, partly to hire special personnel to work in inner-city slum neighborhoods—day-care centers, schools and with parent groups—to stimulate use of the series.

Since "Sesame Street" has been so widely acclaimed and used, producers of the series are optimistic about the prospect of receiving the funds it wants.

NBC has announced that Don Knotts will return to weekly television next fall with a comedy-variety hour in the time period now occupied by "I Dream of Jeannie" and "The Debbie Reynolds Show." Neither situation comedy series is expected to be renewed.

The network will put the show in the Tuesday evening spot starting at 7:30. Knotts first came to the audience's attention playing one of Steve Allen's comedy backstops in the latter's NBC variety hour. He played a comedy deputy sheriff for several seasons on CBS' "Andy Griffith Show."

Debbie Reynolds' comedy series has been one of the major disappointments of the current season and "I Dream of Jeannie," although it has survived for several seasons, never achieved hit status. Both have received low Nielsen ratings since September.

Godfrey Wants To Tell It Like It Is About Pollution

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Godfrey says he will do no more radio and television commercials for Axion, the enzyme laundry presoak, unless the manufacturer allows him to say on the air that it pollutes water.

"How can I preach ecology and sell this stuff," Godfrey said.

A spokesman for the Colgate-Palmolive Co., the makers, refused to comment on Godfrey's position.

Godfrey said he would continue to do the commercials if Colgate permitted him to say Axion was a pollutant and that the manufacturer was trying to make it pollution-free.

He said that when he agreed to make the commercial Colgate told him Axion was neither a water pollutant nor a detergent.

"They told me it was an enzyme," he said, "and that enzymes don't pollute anything; they just eat the dirt out. Now I find that it's not only a detergent but has more phosphates than any of the other detergents."

Phosphates have been cited as one of the chief elements that promote the excess growth of algae that can kill off other life in lakes and streams.

Unsuccessful Show Boosts Man's Career

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Funny thing about being in an unsuccessful Broadway show, Frank Gorshin finds. It has given his career a boost.

His night club price has gone up, and he's getting offers of straight acting roles—"which," he adds, "is what I want to do."

Gorshin is the skinny, flapping impressionist who imitates some 40 other show business notables so skillfully that many watchers say he takes on their looks. A grinning Burt Lancaster and a teeth-gritting, intense Kirk Douglas are among his best.

Producer Jack L. Warner, turning from films to Broadway, saw Gorshin on a television special and picked him for the title role in "Jimmy," a musical about the late New York Mayor Jimmy Walker. Frank sang, danced and acted.

"The show closed Jan. 3 after a little over two months," says Gorshin. "The reviews killed us, the show was really panned."

"On the last night, with the curtain coming down and the audience applauding, I was crying. Not because the show was closing but because we could have been a hit. We didn't have enough preview performances."

Since the interview Gorshin has begun a two-week stand in Las Vegas where, an informed source says, his fee has gone from $25,000 to $30,000 a week. Other performances will follow in Reno, Lake Tahoe, Dallas and New Orleans. Gorshin has just guest-starred in a television in a "Name of the Game" segment with Anthony Franciosa.

Straight acting—no impressions. His theory on being in increased demand: "I gained prestige by starring in a Broadway show even if it wasn't a smash. We played to 8,000 people a week, and some nice things were said about me in the reviews."

Gorshin's start as a performer was in his native Pittsburgh, where at 12 the railroad laborer's son emerged from seeing "The Jolson Story" imitating the Mammy singer.

Carnegie Tech's drama school, the Army's special services and a small Hollywood night spot led to Steve Allen's

Manistique Area Fishing Report

Mild days and nights during the last half of the preceding week and especially on the weekend have finally put a crust on the snow. Snowmobiling should be considerably easier from now on.

A more unfavorable condition, that of slush on the ice, continues to assert itself throughout the District. Most of the lakes north of M-28 have 13-15" of packed snow and 4-6" of slush on the south have less snow but the slush condition still exists.

Due to the above stated factors fishing pressure remains light, the Department of Natural Resources weekly report continued.

Strong southerly winds over the weekend moved most of the ice out of Whitefish Bay. Conditions should improve as cold weather and northerly winds have returned to the area.

Deer throughout the Eastern Upper Peninsula are generally tightly yarded. Dog owners are reminded to keep their pets tied up.

Snowshoe rabbit hunting continues slow. It is hoped the new crust on the snow will enable the hunter and dog to more successfully pursue this "ghost of the swamps."

Northern Pike - Following is a list of counties and lakes where fish are currently biting. Also included is a measure of success i. e. good, fair, poor, what means are being used to catch northern pike and the existing snow, slush and ice conditions.

Luce County: North Manistique Lake - Fair. Spears generally used. Much slush. One 7 pound fish taken on Jan. 31.

Mud Lake - Poor. Heavy slush on ice.

Schoolcraft County: Gulliver Lake - Fair success with spears. Considerable slush on ice.

Milakokla Lake - Fair returns by spearing. Some slush. Fish to 6 pounds during the past week.

Yellow Perch: Schoolcraft County: Indian Lake - Fair fishing. No information available on lures or slush conditions.

Tiger Musky: Schoolcraft County: Gulliver Lake - Fair. Two 9 pound fish reported taken on spears. Much slush on ice.

Walleye: Luce County: North Manistique Lake - Fair. At least one 5 1/2 pound fish taken from this lake on minnows. Much slush on ice.

Schoolcraft County: Indian Lake - Fair. No information on bait or ice conditions.

Splake: Schoolcraft County: Clear Lake - Fair. 10-12 inch fish being taken on minnows. No information on ice conditions.

Rainbow Trout: Schoolcraft County: Banana Lake - Fair success. No information available on lures or ice conditions.

Coho Salmon: Chippewa County: Lake Superior (Pendills Bay) - Fair. No information available on bait being used. A few 15-16 inch fish were caught in 35-45 foot of water. Ice conditions poor.

Schoolcraft County: Thompson Bay - Fair. Many adult fish still available.

Cisco: Schoolcraft County: Gulliver Lake - Fair. Wrigglers being used. Much slush on ice.

A pickup truck was totally destroyed by fire Wednesday afternoon, state police report, when it caught fire while work was being done on the carburetor and gas line. The truck, owned by Don Schnurer of Gulliver, caught fire at 1:30 p.m. on U.S. 2 in Gulliver.

An auto driven by Louis Magnusson, Germfask, was struck in the rear by a car driven by George Blankinship of McMillan at 12:45 Wednesday afternoon on M-77 in Germfask Township, troopers said. Blankinship said because of low visibility he did not see the turn signals on the Magnusson vehicle which was making a left turn off the highway.

MANISTIQUE

Mrs. John C. Wagner

Michele LeBrasseur, John C. Wegner Wed

Michele LeBrasseur chose an ivory lined crepe gown with bell sleeves and hand-sewn jeweled harem bolero trimmed in gold at the neckline for her Jan. 24 marriage to John C. Wegner.

The gown was complemented by a cathedral - length veil. She carried a mixed bouquet of white roses and stephanotis with gold streamers.

The Rev. Edward Vojtik, assistant pastor, officiated at the 12:30 p.m. single ring service at Holy Rosary Catholic Church, Milwaukee, which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl LeBrasseur, 318 Range St., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wegner of Milwaukee.

Guitar Music

Guitar music during the ceremony was provided by the bride's sister, Paulette LeBrasseur, Oak Park Ill.

Mrs. Rodney Weber of Manistique was her sister's matron of honor and Mrs. Pierre LeBrasseur, Big Bend, Wis., and Mrs. Louis Cerulli, Milwaukee, were bridesmaids.

Ivory Crepe

They wore floor-length ivory crepe gowns topped with brown satin full-length redingotes. Their headpieces were burnt-orange velvet bows and attached veils. Their flowers were burnt-orange roses tied with gold ribbons.

Dave Rovenenti of Milwaukee attended the bridegroom as bestman with Dick Seramur and John Mursu, both of Milwaukee, serving as groomsmen. Ushering were Pierre LeBrasseur, the bride's brother, Fred Hust, Dan Celoni and Ken Plinska.

Mothers' Attire

Mrs. LeBrasseur attended her daughter's wedding in a royal blue velvet street-length dress with braid trim and matching accessories. Mrs. Wegner chose an aqua blue lace ensemble. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

A 6:30 buffet at the Mill Inn was followed by a reception for the newly-married couple. They left later for a wedding trip to Chicago.

Home In Milwaukee

Mr. and Mrs. Wegner are making their home at 3001 W. Silver Spring Dr., Apt. 208, Milwaukee. She is a graduate of Patricia Stevens Executive Secretarial School and will be returning to the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee to complete her senior year. Her husband is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee.

Newspaper Want Ads are a big sell: One billion, twenty one million was spent on classified ads last year . . . more than for all magazine advertising combined and more than 300 million more than radio advertising.

Railroad Lease Is Considered

The Department of Natural Resources will lease 15 miles of abandoned railroad grade in Schoolcraft County for $1 per year and the ad valorem taxes if the Natural Resources Commission approves.

The lessor would be Schoolcraft County, which completed interim purchase of the land to provide sufficient time for acquisition by the U. S. Forest Service of a 19.6-mile segment crossing the Hiawatha National Forest and by the DNR of a 15.1-mile segment crossing the Grand Sable State Forest and the Cusino Wildlife Research Area near Shingleton.

The land formerly was the grade of the Manistique and Lake Superior Railroad extending 35.2 miles from Manistique to Shingleton. Plans call for a half-mile segment at Shingleton to be acquired by Mead Corp. for a railroad siding or landing.

Marked Trail

Prospective plans include marking the grade for snowmobile use.

The lease arrangement will be considered by the Natural Resources Commission at its meeting in Lansing next Thursday and Friday.

Non-Resident Tax Hassle Under Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen from New Hampshire and Texas have introduced a bill to bar a state from taxing nonresidents who work where Uncle Sam picks up most of the tab for municipal services.

Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., acting mainly to ease an income tax problem with Maine, joined Rep. Richard C. White, D-Tex., trying to gain related relief from New Mexico, in proposing the bill.

At issue in the New England controversy is Maine's law requiring that all employees of the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard pay a Maine state income tax. The shipyard sits on an island between Portsmouth, N.H., and Kittery, Maine, within Maine's boundary.

New Hampshire employees of the shipyard who pay no state income tax because they get nothing in return for their money since most street lighting, water, fire protection and other services at the island shipyard are paid for by the Navy.

Wyman had the New Hampshire-Maine squabble in mind, an aide said, but the bill would apply to Texans working in New Mexico, and other situations around the country.

White said he introduced his bill because West Texans are subjected to "unfair taxation" by New Mexico if they work at military bases in that state.

His measure would bar sales taxes as well as income levies on nonresident commuters unless the taxing state provides proportionate benefits in return.

Wyman's bill would apply to any installation where the federal government pays a majority of the cost of municipal services—such as water, electricity, gas, sewage, fire protection and street-lighting. The congressman views about 90 per cent as the majority.

It would not apply where a state which collects income tax from nonresident workers also pays most of the cost of municipal services.

Children's Films To Be Presented

Two children's films will be shown at the Gladstone School and Public Library Saturday at 1:30 and 2:30 p. m. according to Mrs. Harold Anderson, librarian.

"Georgie," the story of a little ghost, and "The Red Balloon," the tale of a little boy in Paris will be presented under the joint sponsorship of the Library committee and the Community School program.

All pre-school and early elementary school children are eligible to attend either of these free showings.

Library Parking Regulations Set

Parking restrictions in front of the Gladstone School and Public Library have been changed.

Mrs. Harold Anderson, librarian, says patrons should take note of the no parking at anytime signs on Dakota Ave. directly in front of the library.

Parking on the south side of Dakota Avenue is permitted after school hours, she said.

Briefly Told

Gladstone city police issued traffic citations Thursday to Oscar Olson, Rte. 3, Rapid River for improper backing and violation of a license restriction.

Deflated Tires Cause Inflation?

DETROIT (AP)—Inflation is stealing millions of dollars from American motorists, a tire company says. The problem is there's not enough of it.

Agents of Uniroyal Tire Co. conducted a secret tire inflation survey last May and June and released these conclusions today:

—Millions of motorists are cheating themselves out of longer tire mileage.

—Many may be risking their lives because of underinflated tires.

The survey was conducted in 21 cities. The checkers simply carried a tire gauge in their pockets and made random checks of 2,100 parked cars, said a spokesman.

An average of eight of 100 tires checked were underinflated, meaning they carried 20 pounds per inch of pressure or less. The survey showed that at least one of five cars had at least one tire which was underinflated.

"With 83 million cars on the road today, this means that more than 16 million motorists are incurring excessive tire wear, and rising tire failure because of underinflation," said Harold N. Barrett, president of Uniroyal Tire Co., a division of Uniroyal Inc.

Barrett said the relatively trouble free tires of today contribute to the underinflation... "people tend to ignore them." He said defective air pressure gauges at service stations contribute to the underinflation problem.

If you live in the South, your tires may be soft. The survey showed that only two of 100 tires tested in Minnesota were underinflated: six of 100 in Los Angeles; and 18 of 100 in Texas. An official of the firm surmised that northerners may check their tires more often because they are forced to change them more often.

The solution to this deflating problem: Carry an accurate air gauge in the car's glove compartment and check your tires at least once a month. Check the tires after the car has been parked for awhile for an accurate reading.

Do not, the Uniroyal experts said, rely on a visual check of the tires because your eye cannot spot underinflation until it is extremely serious. They advised putting in the amount of air recommended by a tire company for a particular tire.

Southfield District Judge Clarence A. Reid fined him $150. Schmidt was originally charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, but the prosecution did not object when Schmidt's attorney, Daniel Devine, moved that Schmidt plead guilty to the lesser charge.
